

The Writing Tutor

American Studies has a writing tutor, Manuel Betancourt, who is in the department to help students with their writing. At present he has office hours on Monday, 1-5 p.m., in RAB 017B.

If I have noted on your first paper that you need to see the writing tutor, you should take the paper to get his help in revising. I don't require that you redo the entire paper, only a section that exhibits the problems I have indicated, perhaps the introduction and conclusion or a couple of paragraphs in the body of the paper.

I expect you to hand in to me by Thursday, March 13, your revision and your original paper. If the revision is successful enough, I will raise your grade. If you fail to see the tutor and submit a revised paper, I will average your present grade with a zero.

If you are absolutely unable to come to the Writing Tutor's office hours, e-mail him for an appointment at bmanuel@eden.rutgers.edu